About this Fundraiser

I think most of you know about Eleanor by now. Especially since I have been bombarding you with information during heart month. FB gave me the opportunity to promote a charity for my birthday and of course the charity close to my heart is the one trying to save Eleanor's heart. We pray every day for a cure, but it's the funding of research that will get us there. Please, find it in your heart to donate. Even $1 will be monumental. Thank you so much!
