

Creating a Brighter Future for Children with Cardiomyopathy

The Children's Cardiomyopathy Foundation (CCF) is dedicated to finding causes and cures for pediatric cardiomyopathy through the support of research, education, awareness, and advocacy.

Since 2002, CCF has been assisting physicians and families in their quest for earlier diagnosis, improved treatment, and better quality of life for children affected by cardiomyopathy.

A Research Advocate

- Partner with the North America Pediatric Cardiomyopathy Registry to fund multi-center studies and publications
- Sponsor international scientific conferences and regional working groups
- Assist researchers in patient recruitment for research studies
- Advocate for increased Federal research funding

An Invaluable Resource

- Offer support services such as family matching, teen programs, Q&A sessions, webinars, and an online community
- Serve as an access point for information on the disease
- Assist families in locating a specialty center and care provider

Find out more about CCF's programs, resources, and services by visiting childrenscardiomyopathy.org.

Together, we can create a future where more lives are saved, and every affected child has a chance to live a full and active life.
